Scheduled Speakers and Presentation:

Experiences with Geospatial Data Infrastructure

This meeting will feature a roundtable discussion among county and regional GIS managers about their experiences, including problems and solutions, that come with managing GIS in their organization. We will pose a number of questions to the panelists, including: What does GIS look like in your organization? What has been your most challenging GIS task recently? Tell us about the GIS users in your organization: How many are there? What are their skill sets? Which department/s is/are the heaviest user? How do you educate end-user who may not know about GIS? What are your success stories? What does growth in GIS look like in your organization?

We will have five panelists: Chris Pollard (DVRPC), Sean Lawrence (DVRPC), Merrilee Torres (Burlington County) and Joe Ward and Nick Cressman (Gloucester County). Members of DVRPC's Information Resources Exchange Group (IREG) will also be invited to join the meeting. The meeting will be virtual. We hope the audience will learn from the experiences of these organizations. We will provide time for questions from the audience.
